GIRLS TO INSPIRE HOSTS ROLE MODEL DINNER

Empowering speakers, food, and life lessons from local influencers.

DETROIT - Girls to Inspire will host its 1st Role Model Dinner on Friday, May 3 from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Cobo Arena in downtown Detroit. The event will bring two local guest speakers and influencers, Bria Larine and Leah Vernon, who will empower girls with their life lessons.

The event will be sponsored by Rose's Fine Food, a woman-owned business in metro Detroit, that will provide meals for our guests. Participation is open to Girls to Inspire members and companies who would like to sponsor a girl from the organization. Tickets are $40 and cover the sponsor and one girl from GTI. The speaker Bria Larine is a natural hair enthusiast and vlogger, who will promote self-love and empower women to show their real selves. Leah Vernon is the content creator of Beauty and the Muse, Muslim and plus-size model who inspires underrepresented women to embrace their bodies and fight for their rights.

The Girls to Inspire Role Model Dinner will feature a silent auction with gift cards, a trip, and wine baskets sponsored by Macy's Inc. All proceeds from the silent auction will be donated to Girls to Inspire. The Girls to Inspire Role Model Dinner aims to collect funds for the organization as well as connect girls with inspiring people that will help them build a better future.

Attendees of our first role model dinner will be women who have been helped by GTI in the past, sponsors who will also help girls make connections in their desired career field, and women who feel destined to help our girls in need at GTI. Our first dinner would not be possible if it wasn't for our sponsors and those who donate. This will be a good way to get more women involved with GTI, and for them to see what we stand for.
